

Sarah Cramsey (2006) is studying for her Ph.D. in History at the University of California, Berkley. She hopes to write her dissertation on Czechoslovakian Jewish immigrants to the Palestinian Mandate and Israel.

Michelle I. Gawerc (2001) is a PhD Candidate in Sociology at Boston College with a focus on peace, war, and social conflict, and society and mental health. She is currently in Jerusalem for the academic year – based as a Visiting Research Fellow at the Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace at the Hebrew University - conducting the research for her dissertation titled: "Peace-building through People-to-People Initiatives: Israel and Palestine."

Carson Phillips (2003) has completed a master's program at York University and has continued on to pursue doctoral studies. In addition to conducting research for his dissertation, Carson provides educational outreach services to teachers and teacher candidates across Ontario, Canada. This summer from June 30 -July 7th, he will be leading a group of educators from Canada on a special March of the Living program designed for educators who teach about the Holocaust in middle and high school grades

Chad Priest, Liz Kilstein, and Irene Ann Resenly (2007) are thrilled for their unofficial AJC reunion in Turkey in March 2008!

Maria Mayo Robbins (2004) graduated from Vanderbilt Divinity School in 2004. She is currently working on a Ph.D. in Religious Studies at Vanderbilt University where she is writing her dissertation about forgiveness in the aftermath of violence. Her work was recently featured on the National Public Radio show All Things Considered.

Carole Simon (2007) has been speaking about her experiences as Auschwitz Jewish Center Fellow in a variety of forums including synagogues, Seton Hall University, the Holocaust Council of MetroWest, and various interfaith groups. In the fall, she led a group of educators from the Holocaust Council of MetroWest to Whitwell, Tennessee, the home of the Paperclips Project.